Illinois AGRICULTURE in the ClassroomSM

Kristina Baumbach
Education Coordinator
DuPage County Farm Bureau

Ag in the Classroom is a free program that visits DuPage schools to teach the importance of agriculture. The lessons can be adjusted for all age levels and meet learning standards. We would also be happy to be a part of community events that relate to our agricultural literacy program vision and goals. Virtual options are available.

February's Numbers:

4,393 students • 215 teachers • #1 Lesson Topic: Pizza
Total Students Reached to Date: 34,576

Teacher Quote about an AITC Visit:

"Kenna is an amazing educator! Her knowledge on all the topics she teaches us is beyond expectation. The students and teachers learn so much from her and we are able to apply it to our daily lives. We absolutely LOVE our "Kenna Days"!"
— Lincoln Elementary, 1st Grade Teacher

February was a month of many topics! Students learned about soil, livestock, dairy, corn, specialty crops, and pizza! This month our #1 lesson topic was pizza. Our classes learned about the different pizza ingredients and the plants and animals that they come from. Students got to grind flour, view our dairy cow milker videos, and make their own paper pizzas to take home. At the office, entries for our 2023 Bookmark Contest "My Favorite Food" have been coming in! We're excited to choose our winner later in the month. We've also just completed our 2023 Teacher Institute Day workshop and had an amazing time teaching local educators about a wide range of agriculture topics.

Teacher Institute Day: Integrating Agriculture

And that's a wrap on our 2023 Teacher Institute Day workshop! This year 28 teachers met with us at College of DuPage for a fun filled day learning about agriculture. Topics included food science, soil health, livestock, careers, and apple genetics. Teachers participated in many hands-on activities which included sensory demonstrations, food product development, soil aggregate stability, navigating a cow's digestive tract, beef selective breeding, Play-Doh soil samples, ag career exploration, apple cultivars, and more! We'd like to thank Brian Clement (COD), Luke Allen (FCAE), Haley Siergiej (Nutrients for Life), and Kenna Anderson (AITC) for being guest presenters at our event.

Day at the Farm: Fieldtrip Opportunity

AITC is excited to partner with Kline Creek Farm at their 2023 "Day at the Farm" event on May 18th, 19th, and 22nd from 9:30am-1:30pm. This year, AITC will host a corn booth on the 18th and 19th where participants will learn about modern corn production and make a corn kernel germination necklace to take home. Participants will learn about the 1890's farm and see horses doing fieldwork, beekeepers, sheep shearing demos, cow milking, a blacksmith, woodworkers and more. Teachers are welcome to register their classes for the event. The cost is $10 per student. For more information or to register, please contact Sue Clark at sclark@dupageforests.org.

'We Are the 96' Campaign Mimics Real Life for Macon County Farmer

Macon County farmer Blake Noland knows firsthand the misconceptions people sometimes have when they picture a modern farm. That's why Noland has teamed up with local farmers to build opportunities for consumers to engage with the people who grow their food.

"I want those who live near rural communities to feel like their local farmers are approachable," said Noland, who has joined a statewide campaign to raise awareness of family farms in Illinois. "I hope this campaign sparks the desire for someone in the city to study agriculture, enter an agriculture related career or even become interested in connecting with farmers to learn more about what's grown in their area.

"Agriculture starts on the farm, but it takes an industry to feed the future."

Noland's family is one of 25 farm families participating in the "We are the 96%" campaign. Launched by the Illinois Farm Families (IFF) coalition, the campaign seeks to make Illinoisians aware that 96% of farms in

Easy Blueberry Cheesecake Trifle

Source: www.melissassouthernstylekitchen.com

Ingredients

- 1 box angel food cake mix plus ingredients to prepare
- 2, 3.4 oz boxes instant cheesecake pudding mix
- 3 cups half and half or whole milk
- 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
- 2, 8 oz Neufchatel cream cheese, softened
- 2, 8 oz frozen whipped topping, thawed OR 4 cups sweetened fresh whipped cream
- 2, 21 oz cans premium blueberry pie filling
- 1 fresh mint for garnishing (optional)

Instructions

Bake cake according to package instructions. Set aside to cool. Slice cooled cake into 1-inch-thick slices, then cube. Divide into thirds and set aside.

Using an electric mixer, whip together both packages of pudding mix with 3 cups of half and half and vanilla in a medium-size mixing bowl. Whip for 2-3 minutes or just until the pudding is beginning to thicken but is still pourable. Pour into another bowl. Set aside.

In the same medium-size mixing bowl cream together softened cream cheese with one container whipped topping. Whip until smooth and fully combined.

Add the pudding to the whipped creamed cheese mixture. Continue to whip on medium speed for about 2 minutes or until smooth and fully combined.

To assemble: In a 4 quart or larger trifle bowl layer cubed cake, drizzle with pie filling, 1/2 whipped cheesecake. Repeat ending with cake and pie filling.

Chill for at least 4 hours or overnight. Just before serving frost top with remaining whipped topping and garnish as desired.

The Farmer's Almanac Predictions—April 2023

Sky Watch:

Mercury's brilliant magnitude- 1.0 may offer a glimpse soon after sunset despite its extremely low elevation in the west. It gains height each evening but loses brilliance, Mercury's best evening of 2023 is probably on the 11th, when it's at its highest position and still shining at magnitude 0- but it will be dazzling Venus above that draws everyone's attention. Then come a series of close meetings with the crescent Moon: below Mercury on the 20th, halfway between Mercury and Venus on the 21st, below Venus on the 22nd, above Venus on the 23rd, between Mars and Venus on the 24th, and with Mars on the 25th. An annular total eclipse, not visible from the U.S. or Canada, appears as total over westernmost Australia and a string of nearby islands on the 20th (local time).

April 2023

Temperature 46 degrees (3 below average); precipitation 4" (average). 1-7 Scattered showers, mild. 8-10 Sunny, chilly. 11-14 Rain and snow, cold. 15-18 Sunny east, rain west. 19-26 Sunny; warm, then turning cold. 27-30 Scattered showers, chilly.

Farmers adapt to weather

"We have always been able to plant," I reassured Mom while seated at my desk that faces hers. We should have been seated in a tractor. The season was spring and the year 2019, when it rained.

And rained.

And rained.

I took screenshots of weather forecasts, showing seven days of clouds and rain. It seemed unbelievable, and mentally, an out-of-body experience that endured. By May 30 of that year (past our typical planting season), we had 80% of our acres yet to plant and had dumped 10-plus inches from the rain gauge. The guys used the rainy days to start maintenance on harvest machinery. They had faith that we would have a crop to harvest.

For generations, farmers have endured weather stresses that impact farm production and livelihoods, and they can name those most-adverse years like sports statistics. Thankfully, technology and modern research give us an adaptive edge, building resilience in the face of weather variability.

Our planters hold more seed in one fill than Grandpa could plant in a single day in the 1970s. Bigger and faster planters plant crops quicker and more precisely, necessary with larger farm sizes today. Smartphones show live subscription weather forecasts and field-specific precipitation totals. Tile drainage systems improve water management within fields.

Data shows that over time weather comes with greater variability and extremes from cold to hot and dry to wet. Since 1980, the number of days it has rained more than two inches has doubled in Illinois, a statistic cited in a docuseries at WatchUsGrow.org. More rain in a shorter time can trigger crop losses and soil erosion, but farmers have adjusted to protect crops and the environment.

More than ever on our farm and farms across the state, farmers use cover crops, or groundcover between primary crops. They install grass filter strips along streams and use reduced tillage practices to slow and filter water flowing across the land.

When the weather finally cooperated in June 2019, we had a full crew and machines ready to act. The air conditioning stopped working in a tractor, but my brother sweated it out. We planted four times more acres in a day than in the prime of Grandpa's career and dutifully planted every acre we could.

the state are operated by families like the Noland.

Noland, along with his wife and children, first appeared in a TV commercial titled "The Corporation," which aired during the Super Bowl. They will appear again in additional campaigns later this spring.

Located near Blue Mound, Noland raises corn and soybeans with his extended family on Noland Farms. The operation is comprised of Noland, his uncle, dad, brother and a team of extended family members and local individuals.

"My brother runs the day-to-day operations and does a great job building a strong culture on our farm," said Noland. "We are very aware that we could not have a strong family farm without the guys that help on our farm."

Noland said he wanted to participate in the "We are the 96%" campaign after hearing how family and friends who didn't grow up on a farm viewed agriculture.

"I chose to participate in the campaign because I married a fine lady who grew up in large metropolitan areas on both East and West coasts," said Noland. "We travel to see her family and I am always surprised when I hear their friends' thoughts on what they think a modern farm looks like. My in-laws also make an annual visit to the farm and are amazed by what happens outside the big city. Over the past 12 years, they have first-hand experience on the cutting-edge technology and

Grow the Best New Flower, Vegetable Varieties

By Bruce Black

Another Illinois winter comes to a close after rain, thunderstorms, and snow replenish the soil moisture. A welcome cure for those winter blues has been the arriving garden catalogs and planning for spring. What new garden challenge is your goal for this year? Whichever way you plan it, always leave room for the unexpected when shopping for plants.

debunked the misconceptions that come with being removed from a farm."

Beyond the farm, Noland is the founder of Birddog Workforce Scouting, a company dedicated to helping trade school students find employment in agriculture and other skilled trade industries by matching skills and interests with available opportunities. He sees a growing need in recruiting individuals who can stand in front of technological advancements and won't be ousted by breakthrough AI operations.

"Farming is a unique combination of all the skilled trades," said Noland. "Farmers need a thriving skilled trade community, but I didn't feel like we were providing an accurate career trajectory to students that mechanically inclined. Birddog serves as the conduit for students interested in agriculture and the skilled trades that support ag."

Noland is also known in the agricultural community for creating entertaining YouTube

Review your garden records from previous years to aid in the planning for the new spring. Look for plants that are suited for USDA hardiness zone 5 or colder. Using a plant map, think about where your new plants should go. My starting place is the new additions of All-America Selections.

All-America Selections is a non-profit organization that releases several trialed plants each year videos while promoting agricultural careers.

"Everyone has a little bit of oddness in them, I'm just comfortable showing it to the general public," joked Noland. "I hope that putting my personality on display might make a person feel at ease approaching me about how to get into their dream job. We need more students to know, nobody knows what they want to do when they grow up. If you can find the fun in life, I don't think you ever truly have to grow up."

The Noland family, along with the other families featured throughout the "We are the 96" campaign, are profiled on the campaign website, Wearethe96.org. Visitors can view behind-the-scenes footage and learn more about each family, their history on the farm and what their farm looks like today. All families participating will be featured on Illinois Farm Families social media, including Facebook, Instagram and YouTube accounts.

as AAS Winners. AAS tests new varieties every year at private and public trial sites located around the U.S. and Canada. Currently, there are four trial locations in Illinois, with three northern and one central.

Independent judges, who are professional horticulturists in geographically diverse areas, evaluate trial entries against comparison plants. The results and observations are compiled, and winners are chosen. For the best plants suited to Illinois residents, look for Great Lakes winners or National winners on the AAS Winners lists.

This year, there are 11 AAS winners, six of which are suited for Illinois – three vegetables and three flowers.

Vegetables

Flowers

Coleus Premium Sun Coral Candy (Solenostemon scutellarioides var.
Premium Sun Coral Candy): A National Winner, this is the first seed coleus to be an AAS Winner. This flower is a compact, multicolored foliage plant with narrow, serrated leaves that holds color well in full sun. Perfect for a 14" to 16" container or hanging basket.

Salvia Blue by You (Salvia hybrida var. Blue by You): This National Winner is a perennial salvia with blue flowers blooming up to two weeks earlier. It is both heat tolerant and winter hardy.
Blooms late spring into fall with deadheading of spent blooms. It is pollinator friendly and not deer or rabbit friendly.

Snapdragon DoubleShot™ Orange Bicolor F1 (Antirrhinum majus var.
DoubleShot™ Orange Bicolor F1): This National Winner is an intermediate-height, double-flowered annual snapdragon. It has warm shades of orange and orange-red that transition to dusty shades on strong stems producing more branching and a higher flower count. Perfect for containers or in-ground plantings.
