

DCFB Board Director Retires After 45 Years of Service

After forty-five years of service and dedication, Thomas Wiesbrock has retired from the DuPage County Farm Bureau Board.

Tom joined the Farm Bureau as a young farmer member in 1977. He joined the Board of Directors in 1978 and has been an integral part of the Board for 45 years. He has served on the Young Farmers, enjoyed most about his time on the Board he said, "I have enjoyed serving on the Ag in the Classroom committee and seeing the continued growth.

I have enjoyed representing the Farm Bureau at the DuPage County Fair, IAA Annual Meetings, and several county meetings that related to Agriculture. I also have enjoyed the

New Director Appointed to the DCFB Board

The Board of Directors has announced its appointment of Brian Clement, Hanover Park to fill a vacancy on the Board for a two-year term.

Brian Clement grew up on a small family farm in Virginia, IL raising corn, soybeans wheat, cattle, and swine. While growing up, Brian was a FFA member and involved in 4-H, showing livestock at county fairs. His work experience includes working on the family farm and in the construction industry while growing up, teaching middle continued on page 2

New Scholarship for 2024

DuPage County Farm Bureau Foundation is excited to offer a new Scholarship for 2024. The DCFB Foundation will be offering a Trade Scholarship in the amount of $2,000 to one student. A trade career is a great option if students enjoy challenging, hands-on work. Careers in this field usually require vocational schooling or training and often pay well for the specialized skill set they require. Please look for updated Scholarship information on our Facebook page, website and December 2023, DuPage Farmer.

LET'S GET IN THE GIVING SPIRIT

The DCFB office will be a drop off site for the Toys for Tots Campaign. Let's help bring the joy of Christmas to children in need. We have already begun collecting new and unwrapped toys for boys and girls from newborn to age 12. Toys for Tots has a high demand for items for older children, 10 to 12 yearolds. Suggestions for older children donations include hand-held electronics, jewelry sets, cosmetics, arts and crafts, athletic equipment, models, and creative/educational toys. Toys for Tots will not distribute food, clothes, or weapon-like toys.

Donations can be dropped off at our office Monday-Friday from 8am-4pm. We will be collecting items through December 11th. Together we're making a difference, on behalf of the children that will not be forgotten this Christmas, thank you!

Ag in the Classroom is a free program that visits DuPage schools to teach the importance of agriculture. The lessons can be adjusted for all age levels and meet learning standards. We would also be happy to be a part of community events that relate to our agricultural literacy program vision and goals. Virtual options are available.

Teacher Ouote about an AITC Visit:

"Denise built an amazing rapprt with her students and is extremely knowledgeable. Denise Hall is amazing!"

— 1st Grade Teacher, Owen Elementary

September marked the first full month of school for the AITC team! This month the majority of our lessons focused on apples. Students learned about apple production, lifecycles, and seasons, and created apple season chains and trees. Did you know that today, apple trees aren't grown from seed? They are grafted to ensure the new trees produce the exact same apples as the parent tree. Grafting has been used since ancient Roman times! We also enjoyed hosting library programs, career presentations, and visiting with teachers at the 2023 Educator Open House hosted by the Morton Arboretum.

The 3rd graders enjoyed making livestock shelters with Kenna.

Families at the Bartlett Library learned about agriculture with our interactive display.

Did You Know?

Iceberg lettuce was introduced for commercial production in the late 1940s and was the only variety that could survive the cross-country trip. Lettuce would be packed in large piles of ice before the invention of the refrigerated train car. Hence the name Iceberg!

Last Call for Grants!

Be sure to get your Teacher or Library Grant applications submitted by November 6, 2023! The applications are available online. Please visit https://dcfb.org/grants/ and click on the appropriate grant link to fill out your application! Winners will be notified around the middle of December.

Space Available for 'Grow Your Own Food'

We have a few openings left for 4th grade classrooms to join the May 2024 "Grow Your Own Food" program. Students will learn about gardening and plant care while transplanting and caring for their own cherry tomato plants. We're also excited to announce the DuPage County Fair will be hosting a special judging for the students' tomato plants at the July 2024 fair! If you are a 4th grade teacher interested in joining the program or would like more info, contact Kristina at dupageaitc@dcfb.org.

In the Bag Pizza project promotes the families in farming

For years, I triggered curious looks from fellow restaurant patrons while holding my commercial-sized pizza delivery bag. Nowadays, I get asked if I'm with DoorDash, a food delivery service.

Until recently, the presence of this red pizza bag felt so unorthodox that my husband and kids were too embarrassed to show it in public. But I had no shame for the sake of hot pizza and took that bag right inside the front doors of Casey's General Store or other pizza places during an era when only delivery drivers carried them. We live 30 minutes from a city with significant grocery shopping and restaurant options. We clock 15 minutes from the nearest Casey's, where we frequently order pizza. I permanently carry a cooler in my van, too.

Appropriately timed, National Pizza Month falls in October during the heart of the harvest season when pizza pickups equally deliver "pick-me-ups" for the harvest crew. Field meals provide a moment to look forward to in a 12-plus-hour harvest day. And this year, Casey's teamed with the Illinois Farm Bureau and Illinois commodity groups to use pizza to promote the "We are the 96%" Campaign in celebration of the family farmer.

Contrary to common belief, families – not corporations – own and operate 96% of Illinois farms. Farm groups and Casey's sought to debunk the corporate myth with images of Illinois farm families like ours in self-stick flyers on 250,000 Casey's pizza boxes statewide in the month of October.

Three generations of our family and employees make up our harvest crew, and the pizza bag performs. It tainers and up to five large pizzas, one more than advertised. The bag doubles as an over-sized soft cooler when I throw in some ice packs and certainly makes my list of favorite things. Today, I own pizza bags for two vehicles. My sister-in-law owns one. My mom, three. Collectively, we can handle delivery for the annual 4-H pizza party for 100 people. "Is Grandma bringing maintains warmth for up to 10 meals in Styrofoam con-

food?" our son often texts from the tractor with grain cart during the 5 o'clock hour. Our now-15-year-old asked the same question at age 4 when he visited the fields during harvest. Now he's working in them.

Yes, and by family tradition, expect pizza one night a week.

Farmer's Almanac Predictions

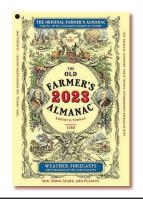

Sky Watch:

Jupiter, in Aries, comes to opposition on the 3rd, rising at sunset; at its biggest and brightest of the year, the Giant World is visible all night. Saturn, in Aquarius, is also seen the entire night; any telescope using at least 30x magnification will capture its glorious rings. Uranus, in Aries, reaches opposition on the 13th, to the left of Jupiter, which is also in Aries. Binocular owners can easily find Uranus by looking for a green "star" halfway between Jupiter and the famous Pleiades star cluster. Since no star is green, identification should be easy. Not many meteors are expected when the Leonid shower peaks at night on the 18th and 19th. Look for the Moon to the right of Jupiter on the 24th.

Pumpkin Mac & Cheese

www.platingsandpairings.com

What you need:

1 lb. pasta shells (or macaroni) 2 Tablespoons butter (unsalted) 1 12-ounce can evaporated milk 1 15-ounce can pure pumpkin puree (look for 100% pure pumpkin, unsweetened) 2 teaspoons prepared yellow mustard

1/4 tsp nutmeg 8 oz. sharp cheddar cheese (grated)

34 cup parmesan cheese (grated) Salt and pepper to taste Finely chopped chives (for serving)

How to make it:

Bring a large pot of water to a boil for the pasta. Salt the water and add the pasta. Cook until just shy of al dente. Drain, reserving 1 cup cooking water.

Meanwhile, in a large skillet, melt butter over medium heat. Add evaporated milk and bring to a simmer. Whisk in pumpkin, mustard, and nutmeg. Add the cheeses and stir until melted. Season with salt.

Add pasta to the sauce and stir until coated, adding some of the pasta cooking water if the sauce is too thick.

Season to taste with salt and pepper, then serve immediately, topped with chives if desired. You can top with crumbled bacon, add blue cheese, or even stir in some browned sausage.

EN.IOY!

Consider Pollinators During Fall Garden Cleanup

Pollinators are important to the global food supply and local ecosystems. About 35% of food crops rely on pollinators for production, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Meaning without pollinators, there would be no food. If you have enjoyed an apple this fall or a tomato this summer, thank a bee.

Honeybees are the most recognized pollinators, but insects like moths, butterflies, wasps, beetles, and flies are also frequent pollinators. There are many species of native bees in Illinois that are important to the ecosystem.

Global pollinator decline, fueled by habitat loss and climate change, is affecting local ecosystems, native plants, and the birds and animals that eat insects as a part of the food web.

Luckily, there is something that everyone can do this fall to preserve the overwintering habitat of insect pollinators.

During the fall cleanup of your flower and vegetable garden, consider incorporating a few simple strategies into your garden routine.

Leave your leaves. Instead of raking and removing the leaves from the garden, consider leaving them to provide insulation to overwintering insects. Illinois moths and butterflies will overwinter in the protected leaves, camouflaged to blend in. If that's not an option, rake some leaves together and put them in the garden beds, where they will slowly break down and provide nutrients to your plants next season.

Leave spent flower stems and dead plant material. Instead of cutting back flower stems to the ground, leave some standing. Pollinators rely on hollow stems for nesting and shelter. Native bees like leafcutter and mason bees lay their eggs and nest in the stems and then emerge in the spring as temperatures warm up. Butterflies also overwinter as pupae that attach to dry stems. Keep seed heads on some plants like native grasses, sunflowers, and coneflowers to add winter interest to your garden. They also provide food and hiding spots for birds and wildlife during the cold winter months.

Create a brush pile. Instead of bagging up fallen branches or leaves, create a brush pile in a corner of the garden. The added insulation and protected space are great for bees and butterflies.

Leave some bare ground. Some gardeners might feel the urge to entirely cover the bare ground with mulch or leaves for the winter. About 70% of Illinois native bees are solitary, and many build their nests in the ground. Small holes in a sunny spot in the garden might not be an ant hill; it could be a bee nest. Layers of mulch prevent bees from nesting, so leaving some open bare ground allows it.

If pest or disease problems are present in the perennial or vegetable garden this year, it is best to clean up that plant debris to prevent those nuisance organisms from overwintering.

Learn more about supporting pollinators at go. illinois.edu/IllinoisPollinators. For more information on fall cleanup techniques for your gardens, connect with a local Extension office at go.illinois. edu/Extension Office.

Let's Talk Turkey: Fact or Fiction

From turkey hands made by schoolchildren to presidential pardons at the White House, November is turkey time. And while we may think we know a lot about these birds, here are a few things that might be new to you.

Fast Turkey Facts

Wild turkeys, (Meleagris gallopavo) are one of only two domesticated birds that are native to the Americas. The Muscovy Duck is the other. In fact, turkeys have been around for a long time. Turkey fossils found in the Southern U.S. and Mexico have been dated back to 5 million years ago.

Wild turkeys are a conservation success story

Populations of wild turkey declined significantly in the late 1800s and early 1900s.
Early conservation efforts included releasing domesticated turkeys into the wild which did not work. But in the late 1940s, they started a program of capturing wild turkeys and transplanting them to suitable habitats. The wild turkey numbers responded positively and today has one of the best responses to conservation efforts for game birds. Hunting permits for wild turkeys are allowed in 49 states, turkeys aren't found in Alaska, and are only second to deer in their popularity with hunters.

Wild turkeys are fast

Not only can they run up to 18 mph on foot, they can fly over 35 to 50 mph for up to a mile. And when they need to, wild turkeys can swim. Yes, swim! They tuck their wings in close to their bodies, spread their tails and kick with their legs. Who knew? But, as anyone who has seen the Thanksgiving episode of WKRP in Cincinnati knows, domestic turkeys don't fly well.

Turkeys do more than gobble

While male turkeys are known for gobbling, often from up in a tree so the sound will travel farther, both males and females make several calls, including a purr-like noise and whistles, clacks and a "clump-like" sound.

Scat chat

And finally, you can identify a male or female turkey not only by the feathers but by their scat. Male turkeys generally excrete a "J"-shaped scat, while female scat tends to swirl into a coil. Yes, scientists have studied this and have size ranges in length and diameter as well. Who knew? It all comes down to the anatomy of the bird, one of which lays eggs and the other that doesn't.

Turkey Fiction: It's a bunch of gobbles

Turkey Facts, Fiction

According to The Franklin Institute, this is a myth. This notion seems to be in response to a letter Franklin wrote his daughter where he criticized the drawing of the national seal, saying the eagle in the center looked more like a turkey.

He then went on to say: "Bald Eagle...is a Bird of bad moral Character. He does not get his Living honestly... [he] is too lazy to fish for himself. ... (the turkey is) a much more respectable Bird, and withal a true original Native of America...He is besides, though a little vain & silly, a Bird of Courage."

So, while he did defend the honor of the turkey, he did not advocate for it to be the national bird.

Eating turkey makes you sleepy.

According to the myth, the naturally occurring amino acid, L-tryptophan in turkey makes you sleepy. In truth, all meat contains this amino acid as well as cheese, fish, and eggs. So, you should be sleepy after eating these foods as well, not just the turkey.

A 6 oz. portion of chicken breast (687 mg), pork (627 mg), beef (636 mg), salmon (570 mg), and a cup of tofu (592 mg) have more L-tryptophan than the same amount of turkey breast (488 mg).

It is probably overindulgence that makes us sleepy after the Thanksgiving meal
