Christmas Crazy Ready to celebrate the season on the farm

"I'm sorry; I'm a little Christmas obsessed," I texted our farm's scale operator. My attempts to stream holiday tunes through the tractor radio failed. Rather, my smartphone connected over the internet to a speaker miles away in the scalehouse where an employee was weighing truckloads of corn. "Haha, yeah there's been some Christmas music here and there," she texted back ... on November 2.

I was born to love this holiday. A Christmas Eve baby, my parents celebrated Christmas in the hospital. Mom brought me home in a stocking and thankfully before one of the worst blizzards on Illinois record – the type that prompted our farm and others to buy tractor-mounted snow blowers.

Today, I have more Christmas tunes than country songs in my playlist. I own a half dozen full-sized, decorated trees and an undisclosed number of evergreens shorter than two feet. Admittedly, I'm "one of those" who decorates before Thanksgiving. I leave our outdoor lights off until the turkey and pumpkin pie are served, but indoors, my mood and mental state have moved on to staircase garland and lights on timers. I figure that if I can decorate with pumpkins for six weeks or more, then greenery deserves as much time out of the tote.

During a harvest rain-out in October, I bought cow-themed wrapping paper and balsam-scented air fresheners. I started shopping lists and volunteered to help with our church's Christmas Eve service. Mom and I worked on details for our farm's employee Christmas party, including gifts that bring conveniences to life and work. Likewise, new and improved

October's Numbers:

6,324 students • 329 teachers
#1 Lesson Topic: Pumpkins
Total Students Reached to Date: 12,900

Teacher Quote about an AITC Visit:

"I learn something new every year and it is so fun to watch the students engage. They ask for more all the time."
— 5th Grade Teacher, Bower Elementary

October is always a fun time of year! We love talking about pumpkins with our students, especially because Illinois is the #1 pumpkin producing state in the U.S.! Our students learned about pumpkin lifecycles, pumpkin uses, and how pumpkins are grown. Did you know that a new record for the largest pumpkin was set this fall? The pumpkin, grown by a Minnesota horticulture teacher, weighed in at a whopping 2,749 pounds! Now that's a big pumpkin! After learning about pumpkins our younger students made pumpkin lifecycle crafts and our older students created pumpkin catapults.

Far right: The 2nd graders at Madison Elementary learned about the chicken lifecycle with Kenna.

Did You Know?

Almost all trees require shearing to attain the Christmas tree shape.
At six to seven feet, trees are ready for harvest.

Virtual Ag Expo

AITC will again be hosting our self-led Virtual Ag Expo in February 2024! This program is open to all 3rd and 4th grade classes in DuPage County. Participating teachers can choose topics from our list of virtual field trips and will receive a customized PDF review packet. Video links and the PDF packet will be emailed to the teachers in January. Teachers will implement the program at their own pace during the month of February. For more information or to register, contact Kristina at dupageaitc@dcfb.org.

Day at the Farm Field Trip

In October, AITC was invited to present at Kline Creek Farm's fall "Day at the Farm" field trip. At our station, students learned about the different types of corn, how they are grown and harvested, and what we use all that dent corn for! After a brief lesson, the students made a corn seed germination necklace to take home. Over the three-day event we saw 596 students!

tools always make it under the tree at family gatherings, two of which we will host in the farm shop.

In preparation for these four-generation events, the guys pause machinery maintenance, remove the farm equipment and scrub the concrete floor. Delightfully, the kids make memories of gymnasium-style fun to a backdrop of tools, oil drums and welding materials. In the conference room and shop kitchen, we dine and snack on foods from some of the best cooks in farm country. When everyone departs, a star shines atop the grain bin and a lighted tree illuminates the barn's loft window. Come Christmas morning, the same will glow while Dad feeds the calves at dawn, a daily routine that takes no holidays.

At the scalehouse, a Christmas tree sits covered in a back corner waiting for its post-Thanksgiving appearance near the front windows for highway travelers. Even with my musical urging, our scale operator resisted any inclination to expose it early and rock around the Christmas tree during harvest.

Farmer's Almanac Predictions

Sky Watch:

All this month, Jupiter is visible at night. Saturn, now solely an evening star, stands on the meridian due south at nightfall, in Aquarius. A bright star far to Saturn's lower left is the 1st magnitude star, Fomalhaut. During December's first few mornings, Venus—a morning star—guides observers to Virgo's blue main star, Spica, to its right. The 13th brings the year's best meteor shower, the Geminids, under perfect, moonless, dark conditions. Rural observers can see a meteor a minute at any time of night. On the 17th, the Moon dangles below Saturn before moving on to meet Jupiter on the 21st and 22nd. Winter in the Northern Hemisphere begins with the solstice on the night of the 21st at 10:27 p.m. EST.

December 2023

Temp. 32 degrees (2 degrees below average); precip. 4" (1" above avg.). 1-7 Snow showers east, sunny west; very cold. 8-16 Rain and snow, then sunny; chilly. 17-25 Snowstorm, rainy periods; cold, then mild. 26-31 Lake snows east, sunny west; very cold.

Ricotta Meatballs www.thecozycook.com

These Ricotta Meatballs are easy to make on the stove top, bake in the oven, or cook in the Crock Pot. They are so flavorful and are perfect with pasta, in a sub, or with a side salad!

Ingredients

32 oz. marinara sauce
½ cup olive oil, divided

Herb Ricotta Mixture

15 oz. ricotta cheese
1 teaspoon garlic, minced
1 teaspoon EACH: dried basil, oregano, parsley

Meatballs

1 yellow onion, finely diced
3 cloves garlic, minced
1 egg, whisked
½ cup half and half, (can sub cream)
½ cup Italian breadcrumbs
½ cup Parmesan cheese
1/3 cup roughly chopped parsley, plus more to garnish
1 teaspoon EACH: Italian seasoning, mustard powder, salt
½ teaspoon pepper
1 lb. ground chuck, 80% lean
½ lb. ground pork, or ground sausage or veal

Instructions

Stove Top Method (See website for other methods)

Combine the Herb Ricotta mixture and set aside.

Heat 1 tbsp. olive oil in a skillet and add the finely diced onion. Soften for 5 minutes, then add the garlic and cook for 1 more minute. Set aside and let cool.

In a large bowl, combine the egg, half and half, breadcrumbs, Parmesan, parsley, Italian seasoning, mustard powder, and ¾ cup of the herb Ricotta mixture. Add the cooled onions/garlic.

Season the meat with salt and pepper, add it to the large bowl and gently mix it with your hands until well-combined. (Don't overwork the meat or it will become tough.)

Roll into 1 ½-inch meatballs and transfer them to the fridge for 15 minutes.

Heat remaining oil in a large skillet over medium-high heat. Use enough oil to cover the meatballs almost halfway.

Brown the meatballs in batches, leave plenty of room around each so that you can easily rotate them without having to pick them up to flip them. Brown for about 1½ minutes per side. Use kitchen tongs to remove and set aside.

Remove excess oil from the skillet and add 32 oz. of marinara sauce. The sauce will thicken and reduce during cooking so I recommend that you add about ¼+ cup water as well so that the sauce doesn't get too thick. You can do this now or later as you judge the consistency. (The ricotta topping thickens it more as well.)

Add the meatballs to the skillet and spoon the sauce on top. Cook for 30 minutes over medium heat, partially covered. Use a small cookie scoop to dollop the remaining herb ricotta mixture on top and allow it to heat through during the last 15 minutes. Garnish with parsley and serve.

Decorate Safely for the Holidays

Illinois Extension

Don't you just love decorating for the holidays with live plants? The smell of fresh evergreen wreaths and trees says Happy Holidays.

The holiday season has almost no limitations from a decorative standpoint. In addition to the live Christmas tree and traditional wreaths, many decorate with poinsettias, door swags, garlands, centerpieces, roping, and decorative berries. However, when using live plant material, we either don't realize or ignore the dangers involved when decorating with them. Here are some practical guidelines to follow to ensure your family has a safe and well decorated holiday season!

Remember to keep your live Christmas tree watered, which will help keep fire hazards away. Also, realize that some people may be allergic to live trees in the home. There have been several stories over the years of people having allergic reactions or asthma flare-ups due to their Christmas tree. If this is a problem in your home, you might need to rethink the live tree.

The holiday season has extended over the years. Many people put their fresh decorations up earlier every year and expect them to last past the holiday season. Fresh cut evergreens will dry out in the heat of our homes and become very flammable. If possible, soak your fresh wreaths, roping, and garlands in water and allow them to dry before decorating. This helps re-hydrate the fresh greens and extend their life indoors. If this is not possible, wreaths, roping, and garlands can be sprayed with an anti-transpirant to help slow the moisture loss through the leaves.

Be careful not to place wreaths, roping, or garland too close to a heat source, light, candle, or other potentially hazardous situations. A fresh wreath placed on a front door with a glass outer door will dry out very quickly. Ideally, we should not keep fresh evergreens too long. They are only fresh for a few days unless a constant water source is available.

Fresh centerpieces with candles are also popular and very beautiful. Please, never leave a lit candle centerpiece unattended. The use of a glass hurricane is a better idea because it keeps the flame away from potentially flammable plant material. Try candle jars within the centerpiece for added safety.

Some holiday plants chosen for their attractive berries are also poisonous. Poison berries are found on holly plants, yews, mistletoe, ivy plants, Jerusalem cherry, bittersweet, snowberry, and crown of thorns. Poinsettia plants are not considered poisonous, but its milky sap does cause skin irritation in some people. Keep all these plants out of the reach of children and curious pets.

Happy Holidays!

Oh, Tannenbaum

You may not associate agriculture as having strong ties to Christmas, but many Illinois farmers provide one of the most popular Christmas items your family probably loves- Christmas trees!

A holiday tradition for many, Christmas trees include different species of firs, spruces, and pines, all of which stay green year-round. These trees are grown and harvested in 45 different states. Across the country, over 300,000 acres are dedicated to growing a traditional holiday sight, the Christmas tree. Ninety-eight percent of Christmas trees are grown on farms, and unlike arti-cial trees made from plastics, real Christmas trees can be recycled to provide benefits to the environment.

A Christmas tree can take up to 15 years to grow to 6 feet tall, so for each tree harvested, Christmas tree farmers plant one to three more seedlings for each tree harvested. While it may seem like these trees grow in the perfect Christmas tree shape, it probably required shearing and/or trimming during their growth to look that way.

So, while your family is picking out that perfect tree this year, remember to thank the farmers that planted and cared for it so you can bring a fresh-cut tree home to decorate.

Protect Your Pets: Keep Paws Off Indoor Plants

By Bruce Black

As winter settles in, many plants and houseplants that were growing outdoors have returned inside. Before bringing in your plants, consider animal companions, such as dogs and cats, because some plants can make them sick if ingested. Knowing what plants you have and how they will affect your furry friends can go a long way in keeping your family safe.

Plants have several natural defenses to protect themselves against pests, including physical and chemical barriers. Physical barriers might be things like fine hairs on okra, prickles on cucumbers, thorns on roses, and spines on cacti. Chemical barriers are phytochemicals that can cause various issues depending on exposure and toxicity, such as irritation or illness. Bitterness is an example of a chemical barrier.

There are plants of concern for humans, and there is another list for pets. One example of a plant that is safe for human use but can make dogs and cats sick is aloe.

With both existing house plants or when bringing plants inside, there are some ways to limit exposure to keep both your plants and pets safe. Labeling plants is key, especially when making room for all your plants as you bring them in for winter.

- Keep non-pet-friendly plants in a room out of reach.
- Discard plant debris and clippings into an outdoor receptacle or one away from pets.

- Hang plants out of reach of pets.
- Label plants and use a sticker or label on plants that are unsafe.
- Use metal cages or terrariums for added protection if you are unable to separate by room.

The following list from University of Nebraska Extension covers plants that are poisonous to pets: Amaryllis, Andromeda, apple seeds, apricot, arrowgrass, avocado, bittersweet, boxwood, buttercup, caladium, castor beans, cherry pits, chokecherry, crown of thorns, daffodil, daphne, delphinium, dieffenbachia, elephant ear, English ivy, elderberry, foxglove, glory lily, hemlock, hemp, holly, hyacinth, hydrangea, iris, jasmine, Jimson weed, Kalanchoe species, laburnum, larkspur, laurel, locoweed, marigold, mistletoe, monkshood, mushrooms, narcissus, nightshade, oleander, peach, philodendron, Poinsettia, poison ivy, privet, rhododendron, rhubarb, stinging nettle, tobacco, tulip, walnut, wisteria, and yew.
